PAASCHE IS PEERLESS

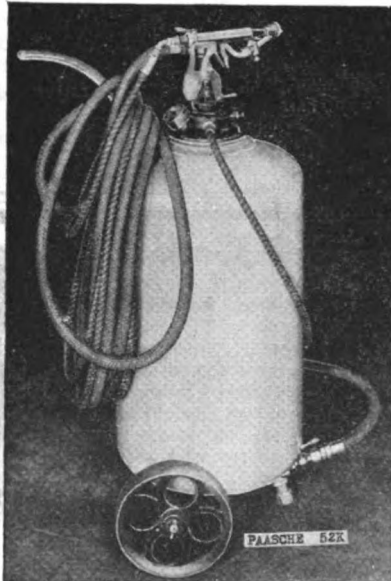

THE PAASCHE AIR BRUSH painted one side and one end of a box car in less time and did much better work than the closest competitor, who painted the other side and end of the same car.

No. 2 (PAASCHE AIR BRUSH) used 18 POUNDS.

Six pounds less material were used by the PAASCHE which performed a much better job!

Certification was made to this effect by the weighers of painting material. PAASCHE not only used less material but painted journal boxes, rods and irons, and before completing the work, permitted one of the bystanders (who had never before used an air brush) to finish the job. In the face of the fact that a novice completed the work with the PAASCHE AIR BRUSH, it was accomplished in LESS TIME than the other contestants.

This is the marvel machine which did the work

Paasche Air Brush Portable Painting Equipment wins most important competitive test. Easily captures honors in first competitive demonstration ever held between Air Brush and Sprayer Manufacturers with the Public as Judges.

It was clearly demonstrated and proven that the PAASCHE AIR BRUSH is the fastest, most economical and easiest for the operator to control.

No. 1 (Closest competitor to Paasche) used 24 pounds of painting material on box car demonstration.

Demonstrations and competitive tests were held under direct supervision of J. L. Green and A. Yappen, Engineers in charge of Bridge Construction, Chicago, of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul Railroad, held on Tuesday, June 1st, at the shops and on the equipment of the Milwaukee Railroad of Milwaukee, Wisconsin, before L. Burton Jensen, General Supervisor Passenger Department of the Milwaukee Railroad, and fifty other railroad officials, painters and general maintenance men.

PAASCHE IS PEERLESS

While it has been generally conceded that the PAASCHE AIR BRUSH was superior to all others, the above occurrence was the first opportunity which was ever presented for this fact to be demonstrated and proven before the public in open competition.
